

COVID-19 situation at Studsvik

In light of current uncertainty surrounding the COVID-19 (Coronavirus) pandemic, Studsvik would like to reassure our customers that we are taking all necessary steps to monitor and follow local guidance provided by governments in all our geographic locations. Top priority is ensuring we continue to operate in a way which protects the health and wellbeing of our customers, colleagues and partners.

Across the Studsvik business areas several of our personnel are working from home, but our service levels remain at normal capacity. We will mitigate for lack of physical meetings by using remote methods of communication (e.g., video conferencing).

We are working to minimise any disruption to Studsvik operations while recognising the risks and dynamic nature of the international response.

As of 24th March 2020, our site at Studsvik, Sweden is fully operational, and we have no current plans to change this status. The only exceptions are in the areas of international travel and transports, which are experiencing some delays as communicated by your designated Studsvik Account Manager

This is a dynamic, ever-changing situation so please continue to monitor the Studsvik website and official communications for latest updates.

Camilla Hoflund
CEO

Joakim Lundström
Business area President
Fuel & Materials Technology